COVERING NEWS OF THE VENTURE CAPITAL & PRIVATE EQUITY MARKETS IN BELGIUM, THE NETHERLANDS AND LUXEMBOURG

Issue 93 OCTOBER 2011

2011 to see €59bn by year-end

AFTER A PROMISING start, buyout activity in Europe might slow down even further in the fourth quarter of 2011 and risks falling behind last year's levels.

A marked slowdown in buyout activity since the summer means 2011 is likely to end with less than €60bn worth of deals done, according to unquote" data. This is down a quarter from unquote's July estimate of €80bn: following a very strong second quarter, activity has slumped with figures down by a quarter in volume and almost a half in overall value invested between Q2 and Q3.

The reason the previous outlook – extrapolated from average historical numbers – was so optimistic is that market volatility was averaged out. In the current situation, buyout activity is expected to be much lower, rendering this estimate defunct. Using the median value of the decade instead of the mean makes for an even more optimistic outlook for the rest of 2011, and more optimistic means less realistic.

This leads us to make a comparison with 2008, the year with the most exceptional data in the past 10 years. The most remarkable anomaly in terms of dealflow was the absolute crash of activity between quarter three and quarter four. Buyouts slumped by more than 50% in volume and by almost €13bn in value.

Extrapolating from 2008 figures – if a similar scenario was to be replicated – a conservative estimate brings 2011 totals to 405 transactions worth an overall €59.3bn. This means that more than 70 buyouts worth in excess of €5bn have to be completed by year-end, and would put 2011 on par with 2010 volume-wise but short of the €65bn worth of transactions witnessed last year.

NIBC Bank spin-off holds €100m first close

AVEDON CAPITAL HAS held a first close for its NIBC Growth Capital Fund II at €100m. The former NIBC Capital Partners team is targeting €200m in commitments and has so far received backing from well-known institutional investors, including its former parent NIBC, Goldman Sachs Asset Management and the European Investment Fund.

With the first close, NIBC Capital Partners has become fully independent and rebranded as Avedon Capital. Led by three investment directors and the two managing partners, Alfred Tulp and Gerard Burgers, the spin-off will continue to manage the assets of the first fund NIBC Growth Capital Fund, which raised €300m in 2007 and is fully invested. So far, three of the 12 portfolio investments have been realised, yielding a gross IRR or more than 40%.

The new fund will invest equity stakes of €10-30m in small and mid-cap companies in the Benelux region and Germany, looking to make 10-15 investments across diversified sectors. A final close is expected in the first half of 2012.

Dodd-Frank splits partners

GPs may regard the Dodd-Frank Act as more cumbersome regulation that will force scores of private equity firms tightening their compliance regimes over the coming weeks, but a raft of LPs are embracing its introduction.

Susannah Birkwood reports

A large number of investors appear to view the advent of the US Dodd–Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (better known simply as Dodd-Frank) as a positive way of ensuring adequate disclosure from European private equity firms.

The regulation, which comes into effect in mid-February 2012, requires all GPs with at least one employee based in the US, and with 15 or more US-based investors whose combined investments exceed $25m (£16m), to register with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and become subject to the Investment Advisers Act of 1940.

Although Dodd-Frank will hit the industry around the same time as a horde of other measures (including Solvency II, the Alternative Investment Fund Managers Directive (AIFMD), the US Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) and the UK Bribery Act, to name but a few), there is a belief among PE LPs that Dodd-Frank will give investors an additional layer of protection.

"There are a lot of investors in PE funds who are happy that firms will be regulated," admits Bill Thomas, a US-based partner at law firm Gibson Dunn & Crutcher. "They who want to be investing in regulated managers and want to make sure they all comply. I can't think of any disadvantages for LPs, as normally the firms will not be able to pass costs up."

Lisa Cawley, a UK-based partner of Kirkland & Ellis, believes LPs investing in the US are more likely to be pleased, because many American fund managers aren't registered with the SEC (unlike UK firms, which are all regulated by the Financial Services Authority).

GP grumblings

The reaction among GPs has been, predictably, less than welcoming. More than a handful of PE firms have even been affected by having just one or two employees located in the US.

"The people who are caught are not thrilled," says Cawley. "It has felt like a really tough couple of years of additional regulatory and cost burdens for firms. There's been an awful lot for the industry to try and grapple with."

Furthermore, although Dodd-Frank was enacted as a way of safeguarding against another global economic meltdown, the frustration for many, according to Thomas, is that PE firms "aren't the cause of the financial crisis" making it "unfortunate" they will be subject to more onerous regulation.

What's most striking when viewing Dodd-Frank against Europe's regulatory framework is the way in which firms that don't fall under the Act have to apply for an exemption. Although so-called "foreign private advisers" with no US office will not have to register, they do have to make SEC filings. This involves being subject to record-keeping and reporting obligations, and submitting to a full-blown examination if the SEC sees fit.

"Under European legislation, if you're not in it, you're not in it, whereas the surprising thing with [the Dodd-Frank Act] is that you still have to do this [SEC] filing and disclose a lot of information," comments Cawley. "In the UK regulatory context, that's odd, and has surprised a lot of people."

The scale of concern among PE firms became apparent at a recent industry conference. An event hosted by regulation and compliance consultancy IMS highlighted how more than 75% of the 100 delegates felt "unprepared and worried" about the requirements. Both Thomas and Cawley are keen to stress that sufficient time still remains to get ready for Dodd-Frank, but firms must act now. "A lot of people in the industry, when they saw the regulation was being pushed back, put their analysis and registration processes on hold for a number of months," explains Thomas. "In the summer, nothing much happened, but now we're in the autumn again, they need to get their nose to the grindstone and make determinations about which entities they're planning to register."

One way that some US firms are dodging the full force of the Act is by carving out parts of their businesses and establishing new subsidiaries to manage them, while several PE managers are relocating their US-based staff to Europe. Others are towing the line more obediently in hiring external compliance consultants to do a mock audit of their policies, so they're prepared when the SEC knocks at the door.

"If you're living in a very European-centric world and are not concentrating on your US side when you fundraise, you may not be as focused on this as transatlantic law firms are," adds Cawley. "It is not too late to register or file if you start now, but it is time for firms to get focused."

PE in emerging markets: local presence not key?

Speaking at unquote's 20th anniversary summit in London last month,

Development Partners International's Eduardo Gutierrez-Garcia told delegates
why his firm felt no need to set up shop in Africa. Other emerging markets tell a different story though. Greg Gille reports

Established in 2007, Development Partners International invests across Africa without any particular regional or sector-related focus. One would think that this strategy should call for several local offices to better operate over such a vast continent.

But partner Eduardo Gutierrez-Garcia pointed out that being based in London is actually an asset in that respect: "London is the best hub for Africa in terms of flights, more so than Paris for instance." This allows the team to deploy quickly to any part of the continent when required, something that would be more complex to achieve from within Africa itself.

Gutierrez-Garcia highlighted the fact that trying to be closer to the market can turn out to be counterproductive. "Being based in London definitely helps to attract the best talent," he said, as the quality of life in the UK capital is a plus to entice talented and sought-after professionals. By contrast, asking them to relocate to certain parts of Africa might not be the most attractive proposition.

Investors in other emerging countries however stressed that developing a local presence was paramount. "In Brazil, it is nearly impossible to run everything from London," said Capital Dynamics' managing director John Gripton. "You need to have a local presence and get to know local managers extensively." Da Vinci Capital managing partner Oleg Jelezko noted that this was also the case in Russia.

That said, Gripton was quick to warn that having a local presence wasn't without downsides. "Brazil is a very competitive market, which brings risk: you do need a local presence but this will also lead to good teams being poached by emerging local actors – or international competitors wanting to set up shop there," he said. Capital Dynamics fell victim to this problem when its Brazilian team leaders, Filipe Caldas and Ricardo Fernandez, left to join Hamilton Lane's Rio office in September.

While the need for a local presence might vary depending on the market targeted, all three panellists agreed on the complex ground work and deep knowledge required to invest in emerging countries. "You can't just turn up and start making investments, or you'll be taken to the cleaners," warned Gutierrez-Garcia. "You need to know the people you're dealing with."

Mid-cap valuations back to pre-crisis levels

The mini-boom witnessed in the first half of this year was largely driven by a rush to put money to work – but it has left its mark on valuations, with private equity paying more than corporates for assets. Greg Gille reports

The uptick seen in Q2 did much to raise hopes for a widespread recovery. But with the renewed confidence came a downside: a 15% increase in multiples, bringing them to 7.6x for mid-cap deals, according to the recently released Argos Mid-Market Index. This is in line with those paid prior to Lehman's collapse, and a full tick more than corporates.

It seems the race to invest large amounts of dry powder, and the will to grab top-quality assets, led to heated competition among mid-cap GPs, creating escalating entry multiples. The second quarter was very busy, with buyers taking advantage of favourable market conditions: "It was hard to find lawyers [during spring] in Paris," notes Argos Soditic president Gilles Mougenot. "They were all working on at least three deals at the same time!"

In addition, GPs seem to have been optimistic about their targets' growth prospects, with valuations only changing slightly in multiple of expected future results. "Fund managers seem to have been betting on a return to growth for mid-cap businesses, even more so than trade buyers," continues Mougenot.

According to the Argos Index, the median EBITDA multiple paid in European mid-cap private equity buyouts – here defined as businesses in the €15-150m range – rose to 7.6x in the first half of 2011. This marks a significant increase from the 6.7x recorded for H2 2010, and even more so from the historically low 5.7x witnessed in the second half of 2009.

Furthermore, the median multiple is now back to pre-crisis levels: mid-cap valuations in the Argos Index averaged at 7.6x for the 2005-2008 period. This highlights a strong recovery in the midmarket segment as witnessed by unquote" before the summer: dealflow in the €15-150m value-range increased by a third in volume and 47% in overall value when comparing H1 2010 and H1 2011, according to unquote" data (see chart).

There is another trend revealed by Argos' index: for the second semester in a row, GPs have been willing to pay higher multiples than their corporate rivals. While trade buyers have historically been paying more than GPs for mid-cap assets, the median EBITDA multiple for corporate M&A transactions stood at 6.9x in the first half of 2011 – 10% less than in PE-backed LBOs.

Despite enjoying low debt levels, it would appear that strategic buyers remained cautious in the face of macroeconomic uncertainties stemming from the Eurozone crisis and lacklustre public markets activity.

This strong appetite for mid-cap assets – and the correlated high price-tags – displayed in the index could conjure up images of pre-crisis enthusiasm, but it is likely to be short-lived for the market has changed in the last six months. "Valuations will go down simply because there is less debt, if not none," warns Mougenot. "I can't see how they could stay at this level."

Even if lower mid-cap transactions should be less impacted than larger deals by subdued lending levels, industry participants are still expecting dealflow to slow down considerably in the next few months. More sensible valuations will at least mean that GPs skilful enough to source – and finance – increasingly elusive mid-cap deals could be in for a bargain.

Source: unquote"/Private Equity Insight

France unquote"

Following the traditional August lull, dealdoers were expected to come back in force and capitalise on France's strong H1 dealflow. Industry participants were however greeted by sombre news on the lending front.

Despite evidence that financing is considerably harder to come by for larger transactions, a handful of sizeable deals were announced in the past weeks. Astorg Partners acquired Microconnections from Bain-owned connectors manufacturer FCI for an estimated €600m; Goldman Sachs, Nomura and RBC arranged a €320m debt package to support the acquisition.

Meanwhile, the GP sold electronics company Photonis back to AXA Private Equity for around €500m following a three-year holding period. Leverage again made up for around half of the deal value.

France also saw two take-privates in September. Edmond de Rothschild Capital Partners acquired 85.27% of listed medical equipment company Groupe Moria, with a view to take it private in a deal worth around €126m. Meanwhile Francisco Partners made a take-private offer for software business eFront which values the company at around €68m.

While dealflow is expected to remain subdued going forward, ongoing consolidation in the industry will still grab headlines. AXA has now officially put its private equity unit up for sale; it could fetch up to €600m according to sources. On the other hand, talks of a potential merger between Duke Street and troubled mid-cap house AtriA are said to have fallen through.

Nordic unquote"

GPs in the Nordics might have been worried by a calm August, but activity in September returned to healthier levels, but stayed in the lower value brackets.

Sentica started September by acquiring 75% of Finnish restaurants group Kotipizza, a deal valued in the €50-100m range. Nordea provided a debt package to finance the transaction. Polaris acquired a majority stake in Scandinavian Track Group from its management and employees. The railway service and maintenance company posted a SEK 170m turnover last year. Still on the buyout front, Procuritas secured a majority stake in pharmaceutical supplier Farma Holding, which has a turnover of approximately NOK 300m. This is the ninth investment from the €139m Procuritas PCI IV fund.

Exits were few. InnovationsKapital notably sold stem cell biopharmaceutical firm Cellartis to French biotech company Cellectis for a mix of cash and shares, bringing the total value of the deal to around €30m.

Meanwhile, a survey of active players in the Nordic market conducted by unquote" and Delphi revealed regulation is by far the biggest concern in the industry (two thirds of respondents). Fundraising came a distant second at roughly a quarter.

Southern Europe unquote"

The ongoing Eurozone crisis intensified over the summer, undermining confidence in the region. Deal activity therefore failed to kick start again in September with only one sizeable transaction recorded in Spain.

Advent International acquired a 50% stake in Spanish explosives supplier Maxam as part of a secondary buyout valued at almost €900m, which has so far been financed on an all-equity basis. Selling shareholders Portobello and Vista reaped a money multiple of around 3.5x on their original investment.

Activity has otherwise been confined to the smaller end of the market. Spanish GP Mercapital notably upped its stake in private diagnostic imaging operator Q Diagnóstica from 76% to 97.1% for an estimated €25m. Meanwhile Grupo Nupcial Novissima, a company backed by Spanish private equity firm Capital Riesgo Madrid (CRM), went into liquidation. CRM will therefore make a loss on its 2008 investment in the wedding gown designer and manufacturer. This adds to CRM's woes, as Madrid's local government is to sell its 49% stake in the vehicle on the secondaries market due to its rocky performance. A French fund is said to be interested in purchasing the shareholding.

On the fundraising front, Altamar Private Equity held a first close of its fifth fund-of-funds, Altamar V Private Equity Program, on €120m.

DACH unquote"

Activity across the DACH region remained strong during the late summer, providing a boost to a region which has lagged behind the other major economies of Europe. The region saw a grand total of 15 buyouts during July and August, a welcome boon after both the UK and France saw significantly stronger dealflow than Germany earlier in the year. Early-stage and expansion deals also saw good dealflow, with 11 and seven deals respectively through the summer.

In Germany, Bregal outbid Deutsche Beteiligungs AG (DBAG) with its offer for troubled automotive supplier Novem Group. The firm was acquired from its creditors in a deal thought to be worth less than €200m. The business had been taken over by Barclays Private Equity in 2008 but fell into the hands of its debt providers only a year later following a breach of its loan agreements. As a result, a majority stake was handed over to escrow holder Schultze & Braun who then opened a sales process in autumn 2010. DZ Bank and Unicredit had provided debt for the Barclays-backed buyout. Both Bregal and DBAG were linked to the firm in July, though only DBAG was thought to have made a formal bid at that time. However, Bregal confirmed it bought the firm late last month.

UK & Ireland unquote"

While deal activity in the UK has remained steady through September, Europe's largest private equity market did not see the kind of surge in activity many would have expected following the quiet summer months. However, given the economic headwinds this is hardly surprising. With the Greek sovereign debt crisis causing chaos across the EU, and banks once again reluctant to finance leveraged buyouts, the UK is likely to see a quiet end to the year.

The political conference season brought criticism on the private equity industry once again, this time with Labour leader Ed Miliband attacking investment practices in a controversial speech on business and the economy. Highlighting the case of collapsed care home chain Southern Cross, Miliband said a future Labour government should seek to prevent "asset stripping" activities, and apply tax and regulation based on the way companies do business. The private equity industry, as well as the broader business community, was critical of his speech.

September also saw a glut of appointments, both in the financial hub of London and in other parts of the UK. The Business Growth Fund was busy hiring to beef up its investment capabilities across the UK. With around £2.5bn under management to invest in SMEs it will certainly need a team of investment managers to ensure the money is deployed. In addition it opened a second office in Manchester, to support businesses outside London.

Meanwhile, legal teams were in high demand, with Dewey & LeBoeuf beefing up its restructuring team, while Proskauer Rose made several hires to its fund structuring team.

Capital was provided by Ysios and Kurma Life Sciences Partners (KLS), supported by a syndicate comprised of Abbott Ventures, Shire Ventures, BB Biotech Ventures and Idinvest Partners, in addition to previous investors Forbion Capital Partners and Inventages Venture Capital. Ysios' contribution was €4.5m.

Investors were chosen according to their knowledge in the area, shared vision of the company and previous relationships. The oversubscribed series-D round of funding will provide financial support for the GMP production of the alkaline phosphatase (AP) treatment drug for acute kidney injury (AKI) and its testing from the preclinical stage to the end of phase II clinical trials.

The investment was motivated by the possible commercialisation of the AP drug for the treatment of AKI, as it caters to a currently unmet medical need. The value of the AKI market is estimated at $2bn. The technology used, which was developed by Groningen University, was deemed attractive by investors, because AP's enzymes are endogenously active, which strengthens its safety profile.

AM-Pharma has previously raised approximately €25m in venture capital funding. The last investment of €7m took place in May 2008.

The company was also awarded a loan of €5m from the Dutch ministry of economic affairs in 2009.

Company

AM-Pharma is a biopharmaceutical company based in Bunnik, near Utrecht, in the Netherlands. The company focuses on the pre-clinical and clinical development of AP treatments for inflammatory diseases. Its latest recombinant of AP will be used in future trials and for commercialisation. The company was founded in 2002 and employs nine people.

People

The deal was led by Joël Jean-Mairet of Ysios and Remi Droller of KLS. Together with Klaus Breiner of BB Biotech, they will join the supervisory board of AM-Pharma. Erik van der Berg is chief executive of AM-Pharma.

The stake amounts to 9.14%, which corresponds to 1.06 million shares. AIF joins existing PinguinLutosa shareholders Gimv and Food Invest International.

The investment originated from AIF's intention to build and maintain a constructive relationship between the company and Belgian farmers and support Flemish agricultural businesses.

PinguinLutosa announced a rights issue set to take place this year and is hoping to raise between €44m and €48.06m with a €9 per share offer. The investors, AIF, Gimv and Food Invest International guaranteed to provide at least €44m for the capital increase.

Fortis buys part of Gilde stake in Roompot

Transaction

Gilde Investment Management has sold part of its share in Dutch holiday park business Roompot Holding BV to Fortis Private Equity.

The GPs hold a combined 70% stake in the business, with Gilde maintaining its position as majority stakeholder. No new capital was provided in the investment. However, Fortis' investment, the value of which is understood to be less than €25m, is expected to strengthen Roompot's creditworthiness.

The company plans to acquire new holiday parks financed through bank loans. The regional focus lies on the Netherlands, Germany and France, with the possibility to expand into Italy and Spain.

Roompot's management, led by chief executive Henk van Koeveringe, invested an undisclosed amount alongside Fortis.

Gilde had planned to sell part of its majority stake in Roompot following the acquisition earlier this year, in order to reach a holding more in line with its initial investment strategy.

Previous funding

Gilde acquired a 70% stake in the company through a secondary buyout from AAC Capital Partners in May 2011, a deal valued between €250-500m. Funding was provided by Gilde Buyout Fund IV.

Company

Roompot is an owner and operator of holiday parks in the Netherlands, Germany, Belgium, France and Denmark.

The company employs 1,800 people and reached sales of €233m with an EBITDA of €32m in 2010.

PPM Oost invests in Ferm RFID Solutions

Transaction

PPM Oost has invested an undisclosed amount in Ferm RFID, a technology company focused on radio frequency identification (RFID).

Equity was drawn from Innovatiefonds Oost Nederland with financial support from the European Union and the provinces of Gelderland and Overijssel. PPM Oost had previously provided start-up capital and is planning to provide further investment in the future.

The deal originated as part of PPM's strategy to support businesses in the region. Ferm's high-tech product is especially attractive because its versatile applicability. The investors expect the company to show strong growth in the coming years.

Company

Ferm RFID Solutions B.V. is part of the Ferm-groep, a Dutch ICT company since 2008.

Ferm RFID Solutions solely focuses on radio frequency identification technology. The Arnhem-based company worked with its Italian technology supplier to develop its latest product, an RFID-tag that is easier to detect, heat resistant and environmentally friendly. These features make it attractive for industrial use.

Radio frequency identification technology used radio waves for the transmission of data. RFID-tags are used to track and trace items the tags are attached to. They are used in electronic recognition systems, like tolling systems or electronic passport readers.

Marius Prins, director, led the deal on behalf of PPM Oost. A board of directors will be assembled in the coming weeks.

CVC in €400m Raet SBO

Transaction

CVC Capital Partners has acquired Netherlands-based company Raet from Advent International and Taros Capital as part of a secondary buyout valued at just under €400m. CVC is thought to have channelled the investment via its European Equity Partners V fund, which closed on €11bn in 2008.

The new backing will enable the business process outsourcing firm to continue to generate innovations in human resources management technology (e-HRM) and in HR services outsourcing. This organic growth may also be complemented by selective acquisitions in existing markets, adjacent sectors and international markets.

CVC was attracted to Raet due its strong growth potential in a market which is already demanding further optimisation and digitalisation of HR processes both nationally and internationally. It was also impressed by the business' full range of human resources software and services, its management team and "world class" technology.

The private equity firm was selected as a partner for Raet due to its positive reputation in the Dutch market and its size and status within Europe. The auction process was run by corporate finance advisers Nielen Schuman and Leonardo & Co.

This deal is in line with CVC's policy of favouring high-growth companies in the Netherlands and expanding its portfolio of Technology, Media and Telecoms investments. It is expected to close in Q4.

Debt

A €300m loan was arranged by ABN AMRO, BNP Paribas, ING, Lloyds and Rabobank. The loan consists of €250m of senior debt, split between a term loan A paying a margin of 400 basis points over Euribor and term loan B paying 475 basis points. This could be sold more widely through general syndication in September. There is also a €50m revolving credit and capital expenditure facility paying 400 basis points over Euribor.

Previous funding

In 2003, Taros Capital (then known as NIB Capital Private Equity) supported the management buyout of Raet (then known as Getronics Human Resources Solutions) from parent company Getronics. Taros paid €315m in cash for the company and Advent acquired a minority stake.

Following completion of the sale, the strategy was to grow the core HR business as well as expanding operations outside the Netherlands. Since then, Raet has developed from being a supplier of payroll solutions to an e-HRm technology provider. Turnover at the firm has increased by around 32% since the original investment.

Company

Raet provides technology and business process outsourcing for human resources to around 12,500 clients and 1.5 million employees, making it the largest firm in its field in the Netherlands. It has a 35% market share and counts ADP, Unit 4 and AFAS as its main competitors.

The company generated an EBITDA of €50m on a turnover of €132m this year, compared to around €100m in 2003. It was founded in 1965 and has a staff of 900.
